

Great News! Name Change

Founded in 1985 by Dr. Gilles Patry, Hydromantis, Inc. is an environmental software solutions company that began with a scientific R&D direction and led to the introduction of the world's premier wastewater modeling and simulation software known as GPS-X.

Hydromantis, Inc., which is continually recognized as the world leader in environmental modeling and simulation software for the global wastewater and water treatment industry, has implemented a new strategic direction.

The first part of the implementation affects the Hydromantis Cambridge Group, which was developed as an environmental consulting engineering group in 1998. The Cambridge Engineering Group has been acquired by Wardrop, a Tetra Tech Company to provide a powerful platform for collaboration, expertise, and resources.

The second part of the strategic plan deals with our Hydromantis Hamilton Group. In an effort to advance our continued independence (remaining 100% employee owned), committed focus on scientific R&D, and implement strategic funding partnerships, we have reorganized ourselves by amending our name to Hydromantis Environmental Software Solutions, Inc.

The name change "Hydromantis Environmental Software Solutions, Inc." embodies a single word, commitment; Commitment to our Clients, Industry and People.

Robert P Beres
Principal Director